O'NEILL'S CODE

IS

A VERY IMPORTANT ADDITION TO ANY CODE.

IT COSTS LITTLE ($1.00).

IT ACCOMPLISHES MUCH.

It can be safely used with this code or any code with "dictionary" code words, without fear of conflict.

What O'Neill's Code will do?

It will put into a code word of ten letters and check the word for safety each of the following,

1st. Any amount of DECIMAL CURRENCY and any fraction of the smallest currency up to 100.9999 dollars, marks, francs, etc., or up to 99,999,999 where no fraction of the unit is desired; or up to 100,000.99 where only two places to the right of the decimal are used.

2nd. Any amount of STERLING from a fraction of a penny, with every variation by pence up to £100 19.11. Up to £10,000.99 where pence are eliminated, and up to £100,000.000 when both shillings and pence are not needed.

3rd. Any SINGLE QUANTITY up to 100,000,000, any TWO QUANTITIES of irregular amount up to 10,000, with unmistakable separator.

Examples—87 and 9862 in one word.

365 and 364 " " "

33,2698 and 96 " " "

Any THREE QUANTITIES up to 100 each, as, 33—42—56.

4th. Any TWO MEASUREMENTS from one by one to 100x10,000 or the reverse (10,000x100).

5th. Quantities expressed in GROSS and DOZENS as, 35 gross; 5 gross, 2 doz.; 4¾ doz.

6th. Any FRACTION up to 99/100th.

Every word carries a check for safety.

Price $1.00

GIFT OF
DEAN FRANK H PROBERT

MINING DEPT.

PREFACE.

IN the preface to the Telegraphic Mining Code, published in 1888, the author stated that, although he had done his best to make it as complete as possible, the subject dealt with was too vast for him to think that it would be regarded as perfect, but he ventured to hope that it would form the foundation of a thoroughly complete and practical Code. He invited the co-operation of Mining Engineers and others interested in collecting data, with a view of compiling a more perfect work. This invitation has been widely responded to, and the work of arranging the data so collected has been performed by Mr. Thomas Neal, the Secretary of the Montana Company, Limited, and of the Mines Company, Limited, who has had large experience in cabling.

The Telegraphic Mining Code contained 18,318 words; the New General and Mining Code contains 36,898, or more than double.

The number of sentences has been increased from 15,110 to 29,632, and the additions have been selected from such as have occurred, and been found useful, in general practice.

The tables for Money have been largely extended—for instance, English Money has been increased from 600 to 1650 words. Numerous new Tables have been added, which will be found extremely useful, such as those for Weights, Assays, Percentages, Dates, and Points of the Compass.

A most important feature is the complete revision of the Code Words to satisfy the rules and requirements of the Telegraph Convention and the various Cable Companies. For this purpose the right has been acquired, at considerable expense, from the Proprietors of the "Telegraphic Convention Code" to use the words in the English section of that work.

The Code Words are alphabetical from beginning to end, thus avoiding the waste of time and the possibility of mistakes sometimes arising from not knowing at once where to look for a word.

The Author believes that this will now be found the most complete, the most useful, and the simplest Mining Code in existence, and that it will save much trouble and expense to Mining Companies and others adopting it.

The Author is greatly indebted to his partner, . T. Burrell Bewick, for the great care he has taken in reading and revising the proofs; and he believes that the work will be found unusually free from errors.
